Introduction

The Localism Act 2011 heralded a step-change in how resident and business communities organised themselves with the introduction of designated Neighbourhood Areas, Forums and Neighbourhood Planning.

The changes introduced by the Coalition Government were described at the time as offering communities the opportunity to “define, together where new homes and businesses should go, and what they should look like” (Greg Clark, 2011).

Over the past decade in Westminster City Council, many communities have chosen to come together to establish a Forum and develop their own Neighbourhood Plan to shape the future of their area.

The 15 designated Forums, two adopted Plans and two Plans awaiting their referendum included in this guide reflect the diversity of the communities found within the City of Westminster’s eight square miles, and vary in their ambitions from helping to shape the future direction of Church Street’s regeneration; to enshrining the principles of environment and sustainability, residential and commercial needs and local heritage in Mayfair.

Knightsbridge was the first Forum to adopt a ‘made’ or finalised plan and remains committed to bringing this plan to life and applying for the use of Neighbourhood Community Infrastructure Levy funds. Since then, Mayfair has also progressed to a ‘made’ plan with the plans for Fitzrovia West and Soho awaiting their referendums.

As well as proactively empowering and bringing businesses, residents, councillors and other local stakeholders together across the borough, over the past decade Forums have become a significant consultee, helping to shape the future of individual developments in the areas they represent. This growing importance in the development process is reflected in the City Council’s emerging Early Community Engagement Guidance and in their role as a Statutory Consultee.

This guide should be read as a handbook of the Neighbourhood Forums in Westminster, providing contact details, websites and a summary of the ambitions of the Forums for the areas they represent.

Fitzrovia West

The Fitzrovia West Neighbourhood Forum has been designated by Westminster City Council as a business neighbourhood with representation from residents and local businesses. An executive committee meets regularly and uses a wide variety of media to regularly engage and consult their membership.

The Forum's Neighbourhood Plan has been reviewed by an independent Examiner and a referendum on the Plan for both residents and business is due to take place in Autumn 2021. The Plan aims to promote the preservation of the historic fabric of the area and to integrate sustainable development. The provision of a mix of housing types and tenures, as well as business units, are also priorities. Improvements in air quality, traffic management, green infrastructure and co-ordination of traffic movements and deliveries are strongly advocated.
